Getting to Maritime GREENWICH

Greenwich is on your doorstep

Located in Zone 2 of London's travel network it's easy to get here using river boat, Docklands Light Railway (DLR), train or bus. The Jubilee line runs to North Greenwich station, which serves The O₂.

The Docklands Light Railway comes to Greenwich (Cutty Sark for Maritime Greenwich and Greenwich stations) from Bank station (22 minutes) via Canary Wharf (11 minutes) which is also on the Jubilee line. ExCeL and London City Airport are just over 20 minutes away via the DLR. You can travel to Greenwich by train from Charing Cross, London Bridge and Cannon Street and Thames Clippers leave from Embankment and a number of other piers along the river.

Woolwich is easy to reach by train from Charing Cross, London Bridge and Cannon Street and by DLR from Bank, Canary Wharf, London City Airport and Stratford – home to the London 2012 Olympic Park. Thames Clippers travel to Woolwich Pier at peak times.

Eltham is also easy to reach by train from Charing Cross, London Bridge and Cannon Street stations.

🚆 Cutty Sark Zone 2 🚆 Greenwich Zone 2 🚤 Greenwich Pier

For further information please visit www.journeyplanner.tfl.gov.uk or email venues@visitgreenwich.org.uk for a list of river boat operators offering transfers/private charters to Greenwich Pier.
