

A cinematic still from the movie Thor: The Dark World. In the foreground, several Asgardian warriors in dark armor and horned helmets are running across a wet, reflective cobblestone path. To the left, a massive, dark, angular structure, likely the Bifrost, looms over the scene. To the right, a grand classical building with a series of tall columns is visible. The sky is overcast and grey, creating a dramatic and somber atmosphere.

A historical scene depicting a revolution, likely the Revolutions of 1848. In the background, a large, ornate building with a prominent dome and clock face stands under a cloudy sky. The foreground is dominated by a chaotic and high barricade constructed from wooden planks, beams, and debris. Numerous French tricolor flags (blue, white, and red) are flying from the barricade. A tall pole with a red flag is visible on the right side of the barricade. People are seen standing on the barricade, engaged in the struggle.
